Package 'shoppingwords'

May 27, 2025

Data data/stopwords_tr.csv, data/phrases.csv

Title It includes the collection of words from user reviews

Version 1.0.0

Author Betul Kan-Kilinc, Mine Cetinkaya-Rundel, Colin Rundel

Maintainer Betul Kan-Kilinc <bk234@duke.edu>

Imports readr (>= 2.0.0), tidyr (>= 1.3.0), jsonlite, stringi, stopwords, stringdist

Depends R (>= 4.0.0)

Description It includes the collection of words from user reviews that were captured from an online shopping platform.

License MIT

Encoding UTF-8

Roxygen list(markdown = TRUE)

RoxygenNote 7.3.2

LazyData true

Contents

---

load_corrected_words   Load dataset This function loads corrected words from reviews and from a CSV (json) file within the package.

Description

Load dataset This function loads corrected words from reviews and from a CSV (json) file within the package.

Usage

```
load_corrected_words(format = "csv")
```

Arguments

format   The file format to load ("csv", or "json")

Value

A data frame

---

load_phrases   Load predefined phrases

Description

This function loads predefined phrases from a CSV file within the package.

Usage

```
load_phrases(format = "csv")
```

Arguments

format   Character string specifying the format. Default is "csv".

Value

A tibble with predefined phrases.

---

load_stopwords   Load predefined stopwords

Description

This function loads stopwords from a CSV file within the package.

Usage

```
load_stopwords(format = "csv")
```

Arguments

format   Character string specifying the format. Default is "csv".

Value

A tibble with stopwords.

| normalize_text | Normalize stopwords This function loads stopwords from a CSV file within the package. |

Description

Normalize stopwords This function loads stopwords from a CSV file within the package.

Usage

```
normalize_text(text)
```

Arguments

text   Input word to normalize

Value

Normalized version of the input word

Examples

```
user_input <- "Göre"
match <- amatch("göre", stopwords_all, method = "lv", maxDist = 1)
normalized_input <- normalize_text(user_input)
```

Index